IRB	art 85 (1) and (2)	2000/12	Phased roll out of IRB	Roll-out: "(1): Subject to the approval of the competent authorities, implementation may be carried out sequentially across the different exposure classes (...) (2) Implementation as referred to §1 shall be carried out within a reasonable period of time to be agreed by the competent authorities."	13y; for more than 3y, one must use 89.1(c) [exemption for non-significants, where we have set a 15% threshold]. We could apply 89.1(c) less strictly for exposures which are part of a >3 year rollout plan, than for those which are supposed to be permanently exempted.
IRB	Art 89 (1) a) to c)	2000/12	Partial use of IRB	Materiality: (a) and (b): the exposures class referred to in (...) and in (...) where the number of material counterparties is limited and it would be unduly burdensome for the credit institution to implement a rating system for those counterparties, c) exposures in non-significant business units as well as exposure classes that are immaterial in terms of size and perceived risk profile	(a) and (b): could be applied quite liberally, as it would frequently be difficult to quantify PDs for those exposures which our banks have in those classes. (c): a 15% threshold applies. We have communicated that an application with a rollout plan covering exactly 85% is a problem per se. Furthermore, we have relaxed the scope to cover portfolios which do not comprise "business units" or "exposure classes" in the strict sense, in line with CP10 (paragraphs 115 and 115a)
IRB	Art 89 (1) d)	2000/12	Partial use of IRB	exposures to central governments of the home member state under certain conditions	As long as conditions (j) and (i) are met, institutions are quite free to apply this exemption.
IRB	Art 89 (1) e)	2000/12	Partial use of IRB	Exposures to institutions under certain conditions	We have implemented this for institutions (in the sense of the CRD) and ancillary services which are under our supervision.
IRB	Art 89 (1) f) to gb)	2000/12	Partial use of IRB	Standardised Approach treatment for certain types of equity exposures to entities	We have not implemented these -- for our purposes, 1(c) would suffice.
IRB	Art 89 (1) e)	2000/12	Partial use of IRB	Intra Group Exposures under certain conditions	(This repeats second-to-previous item)
